* Should plans deviate from what is represented, consider site-specific concerns in all areas when addressing this map. In assessing site-specific concerns, please consider that all existing cutblocks have the potential for operations campsite locations.

 It is important to understand that these plans are subject to operational change. Unforeseen circumstances – like insect and tree disease outbreaks, wildfires, severe blowdown, unfinished timber harvest operations from previous years or other operational constraints – may necessitate that we move our operations plans to other areas identified within the GDP.
